GIRL IN "SPRECKELS CASE" MISSING SEVEN DROWNED AS S. F. SHIP GROUNDS ON REEF

RADIO FROM CRAFT TELLS OF SUCCESS

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, May 23.—(U.P.)—A wireless message received here early today from the dirigible Italia under Commander Umberto Nobile states that the dirigible passed over the north pole at midnight.

As the exact location of the pole is difficult to establish Nobile circled around over the polar area to make sure he was actually over the pole.

The Italia after circling the pole dropped the tri-color of Italy and the baken cross confided to Nobile's care by the Pope.

Shortly after dropping the flag and cross Nobile turned the nose of this big craft for the return trip.

Apparently no member of the expedition was landed at the pole, as had been contemplated.

Autopsy Is Performed On S. F. Suicide

Death caused by gunshot wounds was the verdict of Dr. Verdict yesterday at an autopsy performed at the Wilson and Kratzer chapel on Robert E. Waldhaas, 31, president of a San Francisco advertising firm, whose body was found floating off shore here yesterday morning. The bullet entered the left breast and pierced the heart.

An inquest is scheduled to be held at 10 o'clock this morning and at 10 o'clock funeral services will be held with cremation in the crematorium.

Waldhaas, left a suicide note for his wife on May 8, following which he disappeared. The next day his machine was found on the Golden Gate causeway. Police immediately began a search, which proved fruitless. Financial worries are blamed for his suicide.

Yesterday morning Jose and Eddie Maroless saw the body floating in the bay near the Richmond Pressed Brick company. Sergeant Kenstrey and Deputy Coroner Drumme were notified and took possession of the body. Waldhaas was identified by personal effects found in his clothing.

His wife, living in San Francisco at 433 Dolores street, was notified and hurried to this city to identify the remains as those of her husband.

Waldhaas was last seen by Miss Claire Dutke of San Rafael, advertising woman with offices in San Francisco.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Beatrice Waldhaas, he is survived by his mother Lillian Waldhaas and a sister, Mrs. Muriel Harding, all of San Francisco.

VERDICT IS EXPECTED IN MURDER TRIAL

Closing arguments began yesterday in the trial of Arthur Antoine, Oakland mechanic charged with the murder of his wife, Charles Wehr, deputy district attorney, stressed the confession of Antoine that he killed his wife and threw the body into Carquinez Straits.

The body was not found when authorities made a search and Antoine later repudiated the confession.

In a plea for acquittal of the accused, John Coriat, defense counsel, argued it had not been proven beyond a shadow of doubt that the missing woman is dead. The arguments will resume today and the case will probably reach the jury late this afternoon.

Chamber Discusses Direct Route To Valley Points

"Clean Up Week" beginning next Monday, May 28 and ending Saturday, June 2, downtown lighting of Richmond's business district along Macdonald avenue, a new direct highway from Richmond to the San Joaquin Valley, were among the subjects discussed by the directors of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce meeting at the Hotel Carquinez yesterday.

City Manager James A. McVittie, member of the board, brought in a report from the Civic Affairs and the Publicity Committee on "Clean Up Week." He said that considerable interest was being aroused and that it was proposed to place in the hands of every household a pamphlet urging the cleaning up of backyards and attics, weeds and rubbish of all sorts. This pamphlet will be prepared by the Chamber of Commerce and distributed from house to house by Richmond Boy Scouts under the direction of Scout executive Robert Cox.

It was reported that Contra Costa Associated, the county chamber of commerce, was anxious to get an expression from Richmond as to its attitude toward the construction of a new low-level tunnel between Oakland and Contra Costa county to be built jointly by Alameda and Contra Costa counties. That this tunnel should be built by the State of California was urged by Sanford and supported in remarks by Directors W. W. Scott, Charles R. Renwick, James A. McVittie, Fred Newsom and others. It was also pointed out that the State should take over more highways in Contra Costa county, particularly those that were strictly inter-county.

No definite action on Richmond's attitude toward the proposed highway was taken.

LAMAR, Colo., May 23.—(U.S.)

A sheriff's posse was reported late today to be closing in on five bandits who shot and killed A. N. Parrish, president of the First National bank, and his son, John, and escaped with a sack of money.

C. Lundgren, a teller, and E. A. Kessinger, another employee of the bank, were kidnapped by the bandits but Lundgren was released from the automobile three miles from town. Kessinger remained a captive.

Parrish was in his office when he heard the command of one of the bandits for all in the bank to hold up their hands. He chose to fight it out with the robbers, as did his son.

The elder Parrish died in a hospital. His son was killed instantly with a bullet through his heart.

More than 50 men, all heavily armed, were pursuing the bandit car.

Humans Want To Be Buried In Dog Plots

UNITED PRESS

HARTSDALE, N. Y., May 23.—The Hartsdale canine cemetery, where the bodies of the pampered pets of internationally famous families are buried, has been chosen as the last resting place for members of three of those families. Three owners of plots have taken permits to allow their ashes to be laid beside the dogs they love.

It didn't occur to Ralph J. Hathaway, superintendent, that there would be any sadness to his duties when he accepted the position. But four years has taught him the love of famous men and women for their dumb pets.

ACTRESSES REMEMBER

He has seen actresses whose names blazed on Broadway bend their way to his cemetery with their "best friends." Even those financial kings of Wall Street have a strong feeling for their pets and have greeted costly tombstones to their memory. But it is different now and one day a human being will be buried in the small cemetery. And Hathaway is wondering how he will feel.

"I can understand, though," he said, "five got three dogs of my own. A man gets to feeling that way."

On sunny days the superintendent releases his three hunting dogs from their kennels and they romp over the plots where 5000 of their comrades have been buried. Danny Boy, a setter, sniffs at the green grass already showing over the grave of Fanny, buried in 1917, and the faithful and beloved friend of Mrs. N. W. Anthony, a leader of New York's old "400."

Across the way, where Danny will be buried some day, lie Beauty, Tippie, Jon Jon and Major, former friends of Mrs. Ada Yandell, Billington, also of the "400."

Director Newsum reported that the Richmond Merchants Association was anxious to have the cooperation of the chamber of commerce in a movement looking toward providing a better lighting system along Macdonald avenue. The matter will come before the Merchants Committee of the chamber at an early date for report and recommendation. This committee comprises: Louis Garfield, chairman; Ben Malt, O. R. Lattin; Harry Alberts, R. E. Slattery, M. E. Hazleton, G. R. Paulson.

he believed Richmond would be greatly benefited if a new, direct, highway to Junction City, San Joaquin county, was provided, saying further that he believed such a highway should have state support. Present routes are circuitous and the shortest via the San Pablo dam, he said, had too many curves to serve the purpose of a direct, speedy route.

The idea of a Contra Costa waterfront highway from Antioch to Richmond advanced by R. R. Arnold, county engineer, at a recent meeting of Contra Costa Associated, was praised as a splendid suggestion.

NEW GUINEA MASSACRES REPORTED

SIDNEY, May 23.—A series of native massacres in the Delta region of Papua, which 500 papans are said to have been killed since Christmas, and their bodies strewn by their cannibalistic foes, are reported by members of a missionary steamship which has arrived here.

Official reference is displayed concerning the trouble in Papua although the first clash occurred on January 2. Eight natives have already been imprisoned at Port Moresby, near Granville in the Gulf of Papua, in connection with the massacres which are believed to be reprisals for the killing of nine Goro villagers who had visited Morigo as spies.

These killings were the signal for the immediate mobilization of the Papuan war canoes from many villages and all warriors were assembled. Fighting took place between the tribes during the temporary absence of the Government officers.

DOUGALLS IN EASY VICTORY OVER SANNIES

The Dougalls upset the dope last night and won from the Sannies at First Street park by a score of 7 to 2. The Dougalls played good ball, outplaying their opponents throughout the game. Pinto, with the aid of Bartoli behind the plate, pitched a good game. The kid has control and while he lacks experience of the older pitchers knows enough to do what he's told. As a result, he allowed only eight hits, fanned one and walked four.

Murphy did the twirling for the Sannies. With a few more games, he ought to be classed with the best in the league. He walked five, fanned five and hit one, allowing eight hits.

The only heavy hit of the game was by Harrison who knocked a fluke through the fence. Harrison in the seventh furnished excitement when he beat Moss to the home plate by a split second, adding a run for the Dougalls. Taylor who followed him to home plate, caught a nasty ball on the back of his head, but scored.

It was one of those off days for the Sannies who chalked up five errors to the Dougalls one. Tomorrow night, the Malika and Santa Fe tangle with the former slated to win.

GRAHAM WINS BANTAM TITLE IN N. Y. BOUT

HERBERTS FIELD, N. Y., May 23. (U.P.)—Bashy Graham, of Ulica, New York, won the undisputed world's bantamweight championship tonight by defeating Corporal Izzy Schwartz of New York in a 15 round bout before 18,000 spectators.

After a tame opening the fight closed with Schwartz on the edge of a knockout. Graham had knocked the flyweight champion out of the ring in the 14th round and when he was pulled back sent him to the canvas for a count of nine with left and right to the body.

The bell rang when Schwartz got to his feet, saving the little fellow from a knockout. His seconds worked feverishly over him between rounds, and by staying in retreat most of the last round, he managed to stay on his feet. Graham had Schwartz bleeding at the nose and mouth, through out, the latter part of the bout from his constant left jab to the face.

Anti-Italians Jailed In Tyro

MILAN, May 23.—Four persons are being held for trial at Lugano in North Tyrol in connection with a renewal of the anti-Italian demonstrations there, according to advertisements received in Milan. The anti-Italian demonstrations have been growing covertly ever since Premier Mussolini issued his famous "deeds" ultimatum to protesters in the Austrian parliament. On a recent night, two flags of the original Tyrolean colors were hung up outside the windows of the house where the Italian commandant of the militia lived. Similar flags were hung outside the home of the Governor.

Helen Wills Is Eliminated From French Tourney

STADE ROLAND GARROS, Paris May 23.—U. P.—In the first important upset of the French National Tennis championships, Miss Wills and Miss Anderson were eliminated from the women's doubles today. Suzanne Dove and Jeanne Faurie defeated the American pair 3-6 7-5, 6-4. Helen and her partner were leading by one set and the score was 5 all in the second when play was interrupted by rain. Returning to the court after a shower, the American girls played erratically and trailed for the balance of the match. At times, Miss Wills showed flashes of brilliant form, but on the whole she was not up to her usual standard. Miss Anderson made many errors.

SENATE ROUSED OVER VETO OF FARM MEASURE

WASHINGTON, May 23. (U.P.)—President Coolidge's veto message of the McNary-Haugen bill brought open resentment in the senate today from the bill's supporters, principal among them being Chairman McNary, of the agricultural committee and co-author of the measure.

McNary said, "The message shows both a want of sympathy and a lack of knowledge of the subject. The message contains nothing helpful and much that is wholly destructive. The person who wrote it had more language at his command than ideas."

Vice-President Dawes, who advocated the bill, and Senator Curtis, republican floor leader and presidential candidate, who voted for the measure, declined to comment publicly.

Chairman Haugen, of the house agricultural committee and sponsor of the measure in the house, said he did not care to comment on the veto, but added, "We are disappointed, of course."

Italian Students Are Ordered To Wear Straw Lids

ROME, May 23. (U.P.)—The wearing of straw hats made of Tuscan straw has been rendered obligatory for all university students by Signor Augusto Turato, secretary of the Fascist party.

The order is part of the national campaign started to promote the general wearing of Italian-made straw hats to help the industry, which for some reason has recently fallen on bad times.

The university straw hat, has been designed in one type for all the colleges of Italy, but the various universities will wear individual ribbons round the crown with the college colors, and a badge indicating the city of the student's university.

REFUSES $1,250,000 FOR PAINTING!—German government opposes sale of Dr. Bruckner's famous painting, "Rosenkranz," for which an American offered 1,000,000 marks. No More Embarrassment In Buying one Egg, one Onion

NEW YORK, May 23. (U.P.)—The food folk from out of town have often been scandalized by the quaint custom which New Yorkers have of entering a grocery store and purchasing one egg, two onions, an orange and a nickel's worth of butter.

Somehow, viewed in the light of America's noble pioneering tradition, a whole hog used to hang in the smokehouse and the cellar was full of pumpkins, potatoes and apples, the practice seems almost quaint and undignified.

It has remained for F. V. Quinlan, a rather young grocer, to commercialize it.

Quinlan, a youth with some vision, has opened the nation's first five-and-ten-cent grocery store. It is near the Broadway theatrical district and it is a great success.

With less than a handful of five-cent pieces, the young New York housewife, whose two rooms and bath do not even have an icebox, can collect every thing for a dinner that will do nicely for poor old hubby.

The trouble has always been in New York that if you buy a can of beans you are likely to eat beans for the next two or three days. Canned peaches have also been a great problem. Much do-estic discord among the younger married cliff dwellers of New York has been the result of a can of peaches lasting entirely too long.

It is young Quinlan's idea to supply the material for a meal, no whit of which will have to be kept upon a window ledge until the morning, for about a month.

He conceived it while watching the blunders of young housewives who would come into his father's grocery and purchase two potatoes, three slices of ham and a sweet pickle.

"For heaven's sake, stop it!" wrote an officer on a capsule message, which was attached to Cher Ami's leg.

"Cher Ami's leg," says the American magazine in telling the story.

"The pigeon lingered for a minute in the friendly hand of his comrade and then rose into the smoky air. Half an hour later a sergeant at the pigeon loft in Ramport, 24 miles away, saw a gray speck drop from a cloud. A machine gun bullet had pierced Cher Ami's breast and torn away his right leg but the message capsule still hung by a clotted ligament. And that is how headquarters received word from the Lost Battalion.

The barrage was stopped at once. 252 men were saved and Cher Ami returned on an army transport to the United States, there to be accorded a hero's honors.

The Sugar Step, the Stop Trot, and the Varsity Drag were demonstrated recently. The Kinkajou, the Baltimore, the Hebble Jeebles, and the Dixie Stomp, while no longer classed as new, still are commanding attention.

Teachers of dancing are experimenting with still newer variations, according to a prominent authority.

It was the immediate success of the Yale that led to this rush of new steps," declared one of the foremost dance teachers in an interview recently. "Every one is trying to equal the record of May Taylor who first showed us that step."

He emphasized that if the public would allow the experts to carry out experiments before adopting each new dance, there would be far less confusion.

"People no longer dare go to a dance unless they know all the latest steps," he concluded.
